BELLE GLADE-PAHOKEE, FL.

Will finances slow Jubilee's growth?

BELLE GLADE—The Black Gold Jubilee Steering Committee, which has charted a course of growth for the annual festival over the past year, finds itself in the position of having to scramble for added income to fund the jubilee's future growth.

The committee has already all but scrapped plans to bring a big-name entertainer to the festival next spring because of the expense.

Committee members decided to rely on local entertainers instead and to search for ways of increasing the profit the committee derives from the Black Gold Jubilee.

Committee Chairman, Ernie McCroan acknowledged that the committee's purpose wasn't to make a profit, but to break even, but he added that other groups are deriving profits from the jubilee and the committee should receive its share to help fund the festival's growth.

The committee this year took the first step toward reaping some of the profit that leaked to other groups in the past by taking over the Black Gold Jubilee dance. The dance was handled by various clubs and organizations in the past.

Friday, November 4, the committee members discussed other ways it could increase its share of the profits.

The suggestions that received the most attention involved the dinners traditionally sold by the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce.

Last spring, the chamber sold dinners during both of the jubilee's two weekend days. Saturday, it sold catfish and hushpuppies and Sunday it sold barbecued chicken.

John Pitts, a member of the jubilee's steering committee and an officer on the chamber's board of directors, said the chamber grossed about $7,000 and netted about $4,000 from the dinners in 1983.

McCroan mentioned the committee might want to examine taking over the dinners and Pitts mentioned that the chamber's budget had already been adopted taking into account an anticipated profit from the jubilee's dinner sales.

"If you're gonna start changing things, you're gonna lose members," Pitts told the committee. "I, for one, will leave."

McCroan then said he felt the Black Gold Jubilee Steering Committee should be consulted when groups decide to make up their budgets with projected incomes from jubilee events.

"I don't object to the chamber making money because of the Black Gold Jubilee," said Committee member Donald Fliehs. "It's one less headache for us."

Dave Campbell, another committee member, said he didn't think the structure should be changed for this year, but if the steering committee was interested in taking more control of the jubilee events in the future, it should make those changes well in advance of the 1984-1985 budget years so organizations involved in the jubilee can plan accordingly.

He added that he thought there was a need for another source of food at the jubilee. In the past, the chamber has had the only franchise on dinners at the event.

Committee member Mike Underwood suggested that those deriving large profits from the jubilee should consider advertising the event on the coast, but Fliehs pointed out that last year, most of the best advertisement was in the form of free publicity because of the world's largest salad gimmick.

"We need a good gimmick," he said. "That will bring people."

The committee discussed various possibilities, including building the world's largest sugar cube and sponsoring a tractor pulling contest.

"I don't think you'll find many farmers interested in entering a tractor pull," said committee member George L. Goforth. "Those people who enter into tractor pulling contests, that's basically all they do."

McCroan asked about the possibility of having a hollow cube of refined sugar built then filled with raw sugar. The raw sugar could then be returned to the mill after the event, thus eliminating waste.

He said that several organizations and people had criticized the waste of vegetables after the world's largest salad this year.

He also suggested the jubilee concentrate on a unique food, such as catfish, as a draw. "We need to go with food," he said. "Catfish will draw people."

It was also suggested the committee look into the possibility of serving catfish one day and speckled perch the next.

Ordinance revision a possibility

PAHOKEE—A new city ordinance governing the placing of trailers and mobile homes in Pahokee may be re-examined and changed before the original form of the new ordinance is approved by the city council.

The city council Tuesday, November 8, discovered that the new ordinance it instructed City Attorney Michael Stauder to draw up didn't include any sections governing the parking of camping or recreational trailers on city streets. The proposed new ordinance only deals with mobile homes.

Under the current code, camping and recreational trailers would only be permitted to park on the street in an emergency for one hour at a time.

Stauder told the council members that he was only following their instructions in drawing up the new ordinance.

He said the council members told him to eliminate the sections governing the parking of recreational vehicles and camping trailers on city streets.

Now it seems the council members may have changed their mind and want a section included in the proposal ordinance that would keep campers and recreational vehicles from parking on the street.

City Building Inspector Phelix Slonaker had approached the council Tuesday evening and asked who was responsible for leaving campers and trailers moved from the streets.

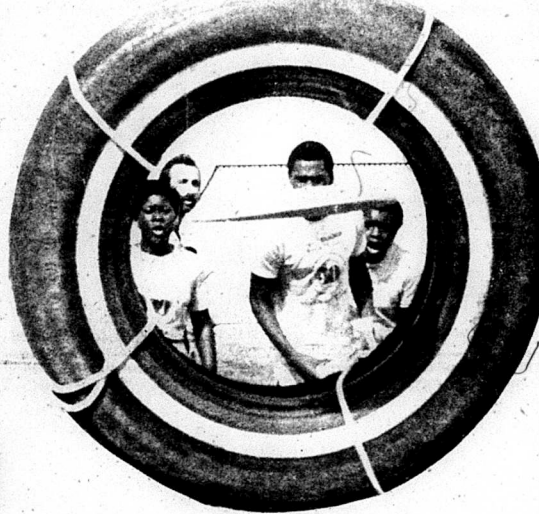

Stauder said that the responsibility would probably lie with City Marshall Carmen "Skeets" Salvatore, but added in passing that once the new code is adopted, parking recreational vehicles and campers on the street won't be illegal.

"I guess it will be legal under the new ordinance," said Stauder. "There's no restrictions on trailers and campers."

Council President Ada Conley asked if that may not be addressed in another section of the code, since it would create a traffic hazard.

"It looks to me if it's a traffic hazard, it wouldn't come under trailers, it would come under something else," said Conley.

A look inside the $540 Gooch package

By JEFF BROWN

SOUTH BAY — Bonita Gooch, a Riviera Beach "consultant," is asking the city of South Bay to pay her $540 for her work on a package she never received the city commission's authorization to develop.

The package, which she said had to be developed without authorization because of time constraints on the city's attempts to attract a Veteran's Administration Hospital, can also be used in attempts to attract business and industry to South Bay, according to Gooch.

What does the $540 packet contain?

The 17 pages in the report include three letters from prominent local citizens asking that South Bay be considered as a site for the Veteran's Administration's proposed 624 bed hospital.

Those letters are written by Thomas L. Altman, mayor of Belle Glade; Dr. Marshall F. Cujala from the Western Palm Beach County Mental Health Clinic, Inc. and John M. Munroe, west area superintendent with the Palm Beach County School Board.

The report itself contains "fact sheets" on eight different aspects of the city: location, utilities, population characteristics, educational opportunities, recreational and cultural attractions, transportation, lodging, hospitals and human resources and industry.

The "location" sheet describes South Bay as the "crossroads" city and gives a description of the roads leading in and out of the city.

The information typed on the sheet fills about three quarters of the page.

It is followed by a map that stretches from Miami to Sebring and West Palm Beach to Fort Myers.

There is no arrow or other marking pointing out South Bay on the map.

One third of a page is devoted to the city's utilities operations. Here, Gooch pointed out that the city is using less than its plant's capacities, thus allowing room for "the introduction of major water consumers to the system."

About 75 percent of a page is dedicated to South Bay's population and the population of the surrounding area, including Belle Glade and South Bay.

The page gives the breakdown of the population by race and the number of housing units available for residents.

Almost a full page was written about education in the Glades.

Another page lists the schools in the area. According to Gooch, there are five public elementary schools in Belle Glade, Pahokee and South Bay.

Her list fails to include Glade View Elementary or Lake Shore Elementary School in Belle Glade.

Under private schools, Gooch's report doesn't mention the Apostolic Church's Christian Academy.

Florida Atlantic University, which has offered courses through Palm Beach Junior College's Glades campus, is listed as having a local extension. No Florida Atlantic University courses have been offered at PBJC-Glades this year because of funding restraints and it isn't known if Florida Atlantic courses will be offered in the winter term at the local PBJC facility, according to a PBJC spokesman.

About half a page is written on the recreational and cultural opportunities in the city.

According to Gooch's report, those opportunities include fishing, hunting, picnics, boating, camping, golf and shows and performances at the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center.

Another half page of the report deals with transportation in the report.

According to Gooch, transportation in the Glades includes state road 80 and U.S. 27, buses and the Pahokee Airport.

No mention is made of the Belle Glade Airport or of the several taxi companies that operate in the Glades.

Lodging facilities take up four lines of a page and a list of three motels in the Glades.

Gooch doesn't mention the Sunland or Waldessa motels in Belle Glade, Stirling's in Stauder: commission not needed

By JEFF BROWN

PAHOKEE — Florida law doesn't require Pahokee to establish a charter commission or board of any type if city officials seek to revise the city charter, but any change in the charter must be approved by the voters in a referendum.

The city's attorney told the council Tuesday evening, November 8.

Attorney Michael Stauder added that the council can still appoint a charter commission if it wants.

"The city council has the discretion to appoint a charter commission, however, it is my opinion that the commission should be advisory in nature and that the final decision will remain with the city council," Stauder stated in a letter to council President Ada Bush.

He also said the city has a large degree of flexibility in the type of government it adopts.

All the current positions could be retained as they are and a city manager added or some of the elected positions could be changed to appointed positions.

"All of these changes would require a referendum vote since a substantive change would be made to the city charter," the letter stated. "You could keep things as they are and just hire a city manager, but he wouldn't have any authority," Stauder said Tuesday night.

The council had voted two weeks ago to continue its efforts to change the city charter to include a city manager in spite of the results of a straw poll on that issue.

In that straw poll, Pahokee voters turned down the city

Lake Shore Middle celebrates national education week

BELLE GLADE -- Lake Shore Middle School in Belle Glade has scheduled five days of activities, November 14 through 18 in celebration of American Education Week (AEW).

The event is a weeklong celebration of the importance of public schools to the community. The theme this year is "A Strong Nation Needs Strong Public Schools".

According to Lake Shore Principal Ed Foley, Belle Glade Mayor Tom Altman and a color guard from the National Guard Armory will help kick off the celebration Monday with a Flag Ceremony at Banner raising at 9 a.m. in front of Lake Shore Middle School. The student council will also participate.

Monday will also be Faculty Education Day when teachers relate details of their own higher education to give students a better idea of the cost, availability and requirements of a college education.

According to Mark Haughey, department head of history at Lake Shore Middle, one of the major goals of AEW is to bring the community and the school together. Students and area businessmen have cooperated on a "create-an-ad" contest which will run in the Herald-Observer, November 17.

Radio station WSWN has contributed air time all week to showcase the talents and abilities of area students.

Local store and banks will display posters created by students to illustrate the week long theme and history students have taken part in creating oral histories of education in the Glades conducting taped interviews with long time residents. Essays on the theme have been written and taped and winning essays will be aired on Wednesday's WSWN show from 1 to 3 p.m.

Also included in the week's activities are presentations by area businessmen and educators concerning requirements for entrance and what they as employers are looking for when interviewing. Among those donating their time were representatives from Palm Beach Junior College, West Technical Education Center, A. Duda and Sons and the Florida Sugar Cane League.

Dolores Robinson, sponsor for the Home Economic Club said the club will sponsor a dinner for parents Wednesday evening, November 16 at the school. Members of the club are planning on preparing the meal and serving the adults who attend.

The week will culminate Friday when students become "Educators for a Day."

Haughey said that before a student gets to act as an administrator or a teacher for the day, each must go through a process that includes completing a lengthy application and competing with other students by interviewing for the job he wants.

Gators' fete this week

BELLE GLADE -- Glades Day School students will kick off the homecoming activities today at 7 p.m. in the school gymnasium with a "Gator Growl".

Other events scheduled that evening will be class skits, a pep rally, the "Miss Glades Day School Contest" (boys dressed as girls) and the crowning of the Homecoming Queen.

The homecoming queen contestants are Lisa Challancin, daughter of Mike and Donna Challancin of Belle Glade, Lynda Crosby, daughter of Ronnie and Penny Crosby of Pahokee; Rhonda Hudson, daughter of Rev. Joe and Raye Hudson of Pahokee; Jennifer Jernigan, daughter of Charles and Carolyn Jernigan of Pahokee; Deirdre Orduna, daughter of Dr. Caesar and Molly Orduna of Pahokee; and Deena Venos, granddaughter of Doris Crouch of Pahokee.

The students are active at Glades Day School, Venos lists as some of her activities, National Honor Society, faculty editor of the yearbook and she was listed as the best all-around girl in the senior class.

Challancin is co-editor of the yearbook, a member of the tennis team and the National Honor Society.

Hudson is a member of the National Honor Society, the student council and the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Orduna was voted Miss Senior and is a member of the National Honor Society and the tennis team.

Crosby is a member of the tennis team, the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and was voted the friendliest girl in the senior class.

Jernigan is a varsity football cheerleader, a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and the science club.

Friday's homecoming activities will include a downtown parade starting at 1 p.m., leaving from the school campus.

A homecoming barbecue will start at 5:30 p.m. to welcome back alumni. Tickets are $5 and any alumni member attending the barbecue will be able to attend the homecoming dance at no charge.

The Glades Day School versus Moore Haven game will start at 8 p.m. and a homecoming dance will take place following the game in the school gym.

Trash not gathered Friday

BELLE GLADE -- The garbage collection schedule in Belle Glade won't be changed because of Veteran's Day Friday, November 11, but the trash collection schedule will, according to City Manager W.E. "Tom" Strang, Jr.

According to Strang, commercial and residential garbage will be collected as usual Friday. Trash won't be collected, however. The regular garbage and trash collection schedule will be resumed the week of November 14.

Veteran's Day is a holiday for city employees.

Open house slated

PAHOKEE -- The administration and faculty of Pahokee High School will be having an open house for parents and friends Tuesday, November 15 from 8 to 10 p.m.

The open house will be in the school cafeteria and parents will have the opportunity to have conferences with their child's teachers.

'Oliver' to be put on here

BELLE GLADE—The musical play "Oliver" will be performed at the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center Saturday, November 19 at 8 p.m.

There will be a cast of thirty and an orchestra of six for this classic musical based on the Charles Dickens' novel "Oliver Twist."

According to a news release, the story is set in London in the workhouse era. Its the story of one boy's brush with danger and later discovery of his true heritage.

The play is a production of Theatre Jacksonville of Jacksonville, Florida by arrangement with the Florida Artists Management, Inc. The music lyrics and book are by Lionel Bart.

Tickets are $12 for adults and $6 for children. Tickets may be reserved by calling Judy Schiele at 996-3055.

AC class available

BELLE GLADE -- Steven Stahlsmith, evening director at West Technical Education Center, said registration is still open for registration in several areas.

He said Amos Price will be the instructor for the part-time air conditioning and refrigeration class.

Stahlsmith said Price is highly skilled and has worked in his trade for a number of years in the Glades area.

According to Price, any student needing skills and knowledge about air conditioning and refrigeration should consider this part-time class offered from 7 to 10 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

A part-time evening study in heavy equipment mechanics will be offered also. The instructor is John Clark. Clark said the class will meet in the diesel mechanics shop from 7 to 10 p.m. Monday and Wednesday evenings.

He said students can expect to learn skills about basic heavy equipment repair and maintenance. He said he has found that many adult students need vocational skills related to heavy equipment used in agricultural operations in the Glades area.

This course, said Clark, will be taught on an individualized plan so that each student can learn useable skills.

The school is also offering classes in vocational English as a second language again. Skills will be developed in written and spoken English for on-the-job use.

Students enrolling in this class should already have basic English skills. This class is free and open to all adults at least 16-years old.

Call 996-4930 for information and registration details on any of the classes offered at West Technical Education Center.

Class hours change

BELLE GLADE—The machine shop at West Technical Education Center will change to afternoon/evening class hours, according to machine shop instructor Don Zaccagnino.

Instead of the usual 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. school time, the machine shop will have classes from 3:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. for the first three hour block and from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. for the second three hour block.

Classes will be Monday through Thursday. Friday hours will continue to be from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. This time change will be in effect for the machine shop only. All other day and night programs will continue as scheduled.

"The change is being made to accommodate the number of people wishing to pursue and develop their machine shop knowledge, but are presently unable to do so with school/job time conflicts," said Zaccagnino.

"Part-time enrollment will be available in either the afternoon or evening three hour blocks. Of course, full time enrollment is available for anyone that is able to attend," he said.

High school students over 16-years old can attend as adults or on a dual enrollment with permission of the respective school officials.

"This helps people working shifts at our local mills so they can enroll and attend according to their shift change work hours. In the off-season, when most of the mill operations go to a four day week, the machine shop will be available during the day hours on Fridays," Zaccagnino said.

Credit is given on the basis of hours acquired and shop/academic accomplishments for each individual. The machine shop course is set up on an open entry, open exit basis and is structured for individual learning. "For example," Zaccagnino said, "if a sugarmill employee were to enroll in the machine shop class and attend classes for a period of time, then had a shift change making it impossible to attend, he could then withdraw from class and re-enroll when he is able to continue attending, taking up where he left off with no credit or hour loss."

The machine shop course will run for five, nine-week semesters, all year. "It is our wish to serve the needs of the majority of those who expressed the desire to take machine shop classes. The schedule changes will begin Tuesday, November 15," Zaccagnino said.

Gooch's package isn't worth the $540 price tag

When P.T. Barnum said "There's a sucker born every minute," he must have been thinking of the South Bay city commission.

Last week we criticized South Bay commissioners for the way a consultant was hired to design a package to attract a proposed Veteran's Administration hospital to the city.

After seeing a copy of the package Bonita Gooch developed apparently wants $540 for, we now have reservations about the report itself.

Gooch has supposedly told city officials she worked 18 hours on the report and is asking $30 an hour.

We don't think her package is worth $540.

Her "fact sheets" are incomplete. Better results could have resulted from a couple hours work at the Belle Glade Municipal Library and Chamber of Commerce.

We can understand failing to mention the presence of a handful of small lodging establishments, but to fail to mention South Bay Growers, the Florida Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative and Palm Beach County School Board as the region's major employers indicates an unfamiliarity with the area.

Also, most everyone in the area knows United States Sugar Corporation's headquarters are in Clewiston, not at the Bryant mill.

A complete list of public schools could have been compiled easily with a single phone call to the school district offices.

Two elementary schools weren't listed in the Gooch project.

Leafing through the yellow pages of the phone book would reveal the presence of a private school that wasn't listed in the report.

The Belle Glade Airport isn't listed, although the Pahokee Airport is.

While both the local hospitals are listed in passing, no mention is made of the ambulance service available in the southwest region of the county. That may be of particular interest to anyone wanting to locate a hospital here.

Gooch will probably get her $540.

If she does, we couldn't blame her if she came back for more money later. If the South Bay city commission wants to spend money foolishly, we'd want to be on the receiving end also.

We would blame the city commissioners in South Bay who not only permit this type of activity but reward it.

We don't think anyone in any position to decide where to put a Veteran's Administration hospital will take that packet seriously. But then, if someone handed us that packet and said it took them 18 hours at $30 an hour to develop and they wanted us to pay them for it, we'd fall on the floor laughing — right after we escorted them out the door.

The report, as we stated, shows an ignorance and unfamiliarity of the Glades area.

Everything in it and more could have been compiled in a couple hours work in a local library and chamber of commerce and by calling three people for letters of reference.

If South Bay really wants to sell this area, be it to the Veteran's Administration now or a business or industry in the future, it should have another report, a complete report, compiled by a professional and someone who has been in the area for some time and can add the local touch that would really highlight the area and its assets.

The Gooch report is actually an overpriced exercise in inaccuracy and incompleteness.

If the South Bay city commission votes to pay Gooch the requested $540 for that waste of paper, well, we have this bridge in Brooklyn...

The pains of growth

The Black Gold Jubilee is suffering some growing pains and steering committee members should be wary of the wounds that can be inflicted if the appropriate amount of caution isn't exercised.

The steering committee is fresh off the grand success of the 1983 Jubilee, complete with the media attention brought by the world's largest salad. Understandably, this committee feels pressured to at least meet, if not top, last year's feat.

The problem is, as the committee tries to steer the jubilee ever onward and upward, it needs cash. Lots and lots of it. Enough to make its own giant salad of sorts. Those big name entertainers don't come cheap and any contest big enough draw a crowd and media from the coast costs money to set up and it's expensive to do this and it costs too much to do that and so on.

There never seems to be enough money to do things as fast as you want to do them, be you a person, a family, business or civic organization like the Black Gold Jubilee.

It's only natural that the committee is looking at means to increase its revenues.

The committee only makes a profit on the sale of advertising in the Black Gold Jubilee booklet and the sale of cups the sodas and drinks are sold in at the event.

That doesn't add up to much when your trying to expand a small-town festival into an annual national or even just regional media event.

We can understand committee members looking at the comparatively huge profits being reaped by other organizations at the festival.

Imagine the envy when they hear that the Chamber of Commerce netted $4,000 on the dinners this past year.

So the committee is doing the natural thing. It's trying to get itself a piece of that pie.

But they should be careful.

Try to work with the chamber and other groups in this matter, or you may alienate the very groups that have meant so much and made the event such a success in the past.

Steering Committee Chairman Ernie McCroan said he resents groups budgeting for the fiscal year using anticipated profits from the jubilee with no consultation with the steering committee itself.

We understand that, but what's done is done.

Don't pull the rug out from under those groups now or they may yank the foundation out from under the jubilee.

Work with the groups, such as the chamber, toward setting up some sort of profit-sharing system for future years. Not for this year, if it will cause hard feelings.

The committee took a similar approach about a year ago when it decided the 1983 jubilee dance would be the last one operated by an outside group or organization.

The 1984 jubilee dance will be sponsored by the committee and the profits, if any, will go to the committee.

It could have taken over in 1983, but the 1983 dance was already promised and plans had been made around the dance.

A similar approach should be taken this year.

It may slow the growth a little, but it will ensure a healthier future for the jubilee.

Black Gold is a community oriented event and it could only weaken it if parts of the community were alienated.

Sugar's field day a good idea

The sugar harvesting season has started up and for the next 160 days or more, the Glades area will harbor a variety of activities as the crop is harvested.

People who had been idle for the summer will be working again and the "stagnant" economy will start to flow more rapidly as paychecks are used to make purchases and bills acquired during the summer are paid.

It's a welcome time of year for many people.

It can also be a controversial time of year.

The sugar industry is apparently trying to take steps to eliminate the issues before they even fester this year, though.

The start of the cane harvesting season was marked by a field day for the media at the Glades Sugar Cooperative in Belle Glade.

Reporters and television personalities were given the opportunity to ask questions about the crop and some of the issues that, annually, seem to cause the most controversy: burning the crop, the alleged use of paraquat and the use of off-shore laborers instead of domestic cane cutters.

We think the field day was a good idea because it gave press and television

In Pahokee

This error was caught in time

The Pahokee City Council will probably make a late addition to the proposed new ordinance governing the placing of mobile homes and trailers in the city limits.

The addition may be late, but at least the mistake it corrects was found before the ordinance was taken to the council for approval and adoption.

It seems the new ordinance would have eliminated most sections governing the parking of campers and trailers in the city.

This addition will put those lost restrictions back into the ordinance.

This is the time to look for errors of that nature and correct them.

It just makes it more difficult to correct once the ordinance is adopted.

representatives a chance to become more familiar with the processes of harvesting the crop, which is so important to the Glades.

The knowledge they obtained or could obtain from the field day would give them a background that is necessary in covering the story of the crop.

By understanding just how the crop is harvested and why one procedure is used and not another, they are less likely to raise questions every year that were satisfactorily answered the year prior.

It also gives them the background and knowledge needed to raise real, pertinent questions about the industry.

That's healthy for the industry, whose spokespeople won't have to spend their time answering the same questions as years prior, and it's healthy for the news and broadcast media, whose representatives will be able to better cover the story and recognize the difference between real controversy and a rehash of the old material.

We urge the sugar industry to sponsor similar field days at the start of every season.

It creates a sense of openness and cooperation between the industry and the media which have found it difficult to cover the sugar industry's story in the past.

"And What Not"

High octane oats?

Any day now Santa Claus will make the scene and that means the little kiddies will want a complete vita on the jolly old gent. Where does he live? How does he get here? How does he know what I want?

In simpler days parents dealt in stock answers — the lore passed down from one generation to the next. If the answers were nonsensical it mattered not, at least all the kids were getting the same gaff on the subject.

But that was before the space age, the computer age, and before TV. Today's parents had better be able to come up with some updated hokum if they want to keep the Santa Claus thing going.

Q: Where does Santa live?

A: Probably with ET. He used to live at the North Pole but he had to move — his reindeer kept straying over into territorial air space.

Q: What are reindeer?

A: An endangered species. Especially the flying kind. He has the only herd left.

Q: What does he feed them to make them fly?

A: High octane oats. They blast off, just like rockets.

Q: How come there are so many Santa Clauses?

A: They're clones.

Q: How can he deliver all the presents in just one night?

A: He uses overnight express. Like the commercials you see on TV.

Q: How will he know what to bring me?

A: We'll put it into the computer. Computers talk to each other at night, you know.

Q: Why don't I write him a letter instead?

A: He doesn't have any ZIP code.

Q: How come Santa doesn't have any little girl elves? Doesn't he hire women?

A: Oh sure he does. But all elves look alike, unless you're an elf.

Q: If I'm not good, will he put a whip in my stocking?

A: No. Santa doesn't do that anymore. He only fills special orders for matched sets of whips and chains.

Is there ANYBODY out there?

More arrests expected in armed robbery

BELLE GLADE — A wider, Lindsey was charged in connection with the robbery of Jenkins of 1508 Northwest Avenue D, apartment A-6 of an undisclosed amount of money Friday evening, October 21.

Anthony "Bud" Lindsey, 24, of South Bay was arrested Wednesday, November 2 and charged with two counts of grand theft and one each of armed robbery and theft of a firearm.

According to Detective Jack R. Fullen-vinyl satchel containing the receipts and a second handgun.

When he left the vehicle, someone approached him from the rear, put what he thought was a gun to his head and demanded the money.

Jenkins apparently tried to fight the individual, but the armed robber hit Jenkins on the left side of the head with the gun or object. A second person then approached and assisted the assailant. Both of them left around the west side of the building, Jenkins told Belle Glade Police Officer William R. Teal.

In its investigation, police received word that three individuals were involved in the robbery and they arrested Lindsey last week.

"Other arrests are imminent," said Fullenwider. "They're gonna happen. It's just a matter of time."

West Tech offers courses

Many glades area residents are learning new vocational skills and improving job skills in evening classes at West Technical Education Center, according to Assistant Director, Steve Stahlsmith. He has found that many adult students enroll for evening classes as a way to gain new or upgrade existing technical job skills.

Stahlsmith said adult vocational students are nearly always highly motivated and seem to enjoy the time spent in evening classes at West Tech. After talking with many evening students, he feels that most are learning new skills that can be used on the job. He said that part-time evening classes are scheduled from 7 to 10 p.m. at the Center, Monday through Thursday evening.

Adults who want to enroll for evening classes at West Tech should call 996-4930 or visit the Center. A wide range of courses are offered in Agriculture, Business, Distributive, Industrial and Trade Education areas. Access to all programs and courses is open to individuals without regard to race, sex, handicap, or national origin.

THE GATOR DEFENSE moves against a Frostproof ball carrier. The Gators are now 3-2 against the class 1A powerhouse

Gators down Frostproof

By JEFF BROWN

BELLE GLADE - Glades Day Gator Coach Byron Walker, Jr. usually wears one expression on the sidelines during a game. He scowls.

He scowls at the opposing players. He scowls at his own players. He scowls at the officials. He scowls at the opposing coaches. He scowls at his coaching staff. If it's on the sidelines during a game, he scowls at it.

Last Friday night, he briefly dropped his scowl.

Gator Mike Schlechter took the opening kickoff of the game and ran it back 97 yards for a touchdown.

Walker jumped up in the air when Schlechter completed his school record breaking kick-off return.

"Coach (Dick) Schmidt coaches our special teams. He doesn't get a whole lot of recognition, but they work on stuff like that. That's a team effort," said Walker. "I was really happy for Dick. They set things up and executed them just like he told them to. I was happy for Mike too. But I was especially happy for Dick whose team got to contribute to the scoring in the game. It got me sort of pumped up. I was just real tickled for him."

"And of course for Mike, it must of been a real thrill, going 97 yards for a touchdown."

That touchdown set the tone for the game. The Gators took charge early and never really lost it, despite a Frostproof field goal in the first quarter. The Gator's previous kick-off return record was set last year when Schlechter returned a kick-off 94 yards for the touchdown. That was also against Frostproof.

His touchdown would have been enough to seal the Gator victory, but the senior who serves as a flanker, defensive back and kicker added two extra points and a field goal to his totals that evening.

Frostproof pressed back, returning the kick-off to the Gators' side of the field. But the Gator defense held and Frostproof had to settle for a field goal, the only points it would score in the game.

"I think our defense did a good job. We bent a little but we didn't break," said Walker.

Before the first period ended, the Gators drove again. It was the Frostproof defense this time that bent, but didn't break.

Schlechter's field goal gave the Gators a 10-3 lead.

For the next two periods, the teams engaged in scoreless combat.

"We got into something we don't like to get into - that is, a game of field position," said Walker. "Frostproof was winning the game of field position."

Frostproof closed to within 10 yards of the goal-line near the close of the first half, but an interception by Gator Michael Mock thwarted that drive.

Frostproof also closed to within 20 yards a couple times in the second half, but the Gator defense held.

The Gators' final touchdown culminated a 75-yard drive in the fourth period. Philip Echols, a junior running back who transferred from Christian Day School this year, carried the ball over from the four yard line to put the Gators up 16-3. Schlechter's extra point gave the Gators a 17-3 lead.

It also gave the senior 11 points on the game. Echols was the offensive standout of the game with 163 yards rushing and one touchdown.

It was his fourth consecutive game with over 100 yards rushing.

"He had an outstanding ball game against a defense the caliber of Frostproof's," said Walker.

"I was pleased with our overall performance on offense," said Walker. "We had to settle for three points once when we should have gone down for seven."

"It was an important game psychologically. I

GGH marks x-ray week

BELLE GLADE — The Radiology Department of Glades General Hospital celebrated National Radiologic Technology Week Monday with a presentation of carnations to department employees and announced plans for an open house on Thursday, November 10.

National Radiologic Technology Week celebrates the discovery of the X-Ray by Wilhelm Roentgen November 8, 1895. The Radiology Department at Glades General Hospital is under the direction of Dr. Miguel Toms, M.D. Joe Crane, chief technician, said many new technological advances have taken place in the radiology field since 1895. Through the use of special opaque dyes and radioisotopes (radioactive drugs), radiology and its companion field, nuclear medicine, enable physicians to examine internal organs for disease and abnormalities.

Glades General's Radiology Department features the most modern X-Ray equipment, including nuclear medicine and an ultrasonography laboratory.

Modern X-Ray equipment is safe and efficient, Crane explained. A computer limits the amount of radiation a patient receives in the average examination to less than he receives from the environment.

The public is invited to visit Glades General Hospital's Radiology Department from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Thursday.

HOSPITAL ADMINISTRATOR Patrick Lennon pins a carnation on Radiology Department employee Andrea Grace in honor of National Radiologic Technology Week, November 7-11. Open house is Thursday, November 10.

Program slated

The American Lung Association of Southeast Florida will sponsor a free public respiratory program Monday, November 28, at 1 p.m. at the Belle Glade Municipal Library Conference Room at 530 South Main St. in Belle Glade.

Dave Baker from the Lung Association will make a presentation on "How the Respiratory System Works."

Anyone interested in learning about respiratory problems may attend.

These programs are sponsored by the American Lung Association of Southeast Florida and are made possible by Christmas Seal donations.

For additional information contact Terry R. Lehman, managing director of the American Lung Association of South East Florida, 2701 N. Australian Ave., West Palm Beach. To learn about telephone, ask your local operator for WX-1753.

South Bay, or the camping facilities at the Belle Glade and Pahokee marinas. None of the lodging facilities in Pahokee are mentioned.

Three quarters of a page is dedicated to the hospitals and human resources facilities in the Glades.

Another page is used to list the addresses of Glades General and Everglades Memorial hospitals.

Two four-line paragraphs were written to describe the sugar cane and winter vegetable industries in the area.

The final page lists "major employers" in the area. The list fails to mention South Bay Growers.

Unites States Sugar Corporation's address is given as Bryant Sugar House in Bryant. USSC's headquarters is in Clewiston.

The Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida was also not mentioned as an employer, although it owns and operates the largest sugar mill in the continental United States just outside the Belle Glade city limits.

Excluding the lists, map and letters, the packet consists of 120 lines typed one and a half spaces apart.

She also delivered a resolution to the city commission which was approved by the commission Tuesday, November 1.

The resolution was in support of the proposed "600-hospital" being located in the "city" of South Bay.

Gooch had told the commission that she studied journalism in college.

BELLE GLADE — Quail. Two Glades General Hospital paramedics recently attended cardiac life support classes sponsored by the American Heart Association.

Paramedics Tony Miracle and Jerry Hofart joined other paramedics at Hendry General Hospital November 1 and 2 for the program, which was taught by Glades General's Jim Mc-

Class topics included use and dosage of various cardiac drugs, proper monitoring of heart functions, identification of abnormal heart rhythms, and opening closed or damaged airways. The course is required for certification as a paramedic, and those taking part in it received certificates of completion.

manager concept 278 to 241. That poll was non-binding and after the votes were counted, the council voted 4-1 to establish a charter commission that would be charged with researching and developing a charter change proposal that would be put before the city voters in a binding referendum. Stauder was asked at that time to find out what type of restrictions were placed on forming a commission and what type of changes to the charter were possible.

Harvest Queen revived?

BELLE GLADE -- The Belle Glade Lions Club may revive the Harvest Queen pageant as part of the 1984 Black Gold Jubilee, according to Brett McCormick, the club's president.

McCormick sits on the jubilee's steering committee and told the committee last Friday, November 4, that the club's board of directors had approved a proposal to sponsor and run a Harvest Queen pageant or a similar event under another name.

That decision must be approved by the general membership of the club, and McCormick said he wasn't too sure of the proposal's chances of success.

He added there may be a problem with naming a queen and still complying with statutes and laws prohibiting sexually discriminatory events.

"Some of those things are just ridiculous," said Committee Chairman Ernie McCroan.

The last Harvest Queen pageant was in 1973 when Pat Baker was crowned.

The Jaycees, which sponsored the event in the years prior to its discontinuance, apparently decided to drop the pageant in December of that year. The president of the club said at the time the club was too strapped financially and also said most of the active members were too inexperienced to handle the pageant.

The first queen was crowned in 1954.

Devils to battle Cowboys

PAHOKEE — The Blue Devils, mired at 1-5 just two weeks ago, have a chance to clinch second place in their division when they host the LaBelle Cowboys Friday, November 11.

A victory would not only give the Blue Devils second place after a disappointing season, but it would up their record to 4-5 and give them a shot at a 500 season.

The Devils topped their record to 3-6 by beating Pope John Paul last Friday.

The Devils allowed their opponents only seven points, the result of a first period touchdown, while putting 39 points of their own on the board.

First blood was drawn by the Blue Devils. Donald Edward caught a 40-yard pass from Pernel Kelton to give Pahokee a 6-0 lead.

Pope John Paul came right back, though, with a touchdown and extra-point to capture a 7-6 lead.

The Blue Devils wouldn't wait until the first quarter ended to take control of the game.

Paul Buxton carried the ball over from the five yard line and quarterback Andrew hit the extra point to give the Blue Devils what would be a permanent lead in the game.

A second period touchdown put the Blue Devils up 20-7 while the defense set to work shutting down the Pope John Paul offense.

"I can never say enough about our defense the year round," said Coach Amos Turner.

Tight end Danetrius Brown added to the Blue Devils' lead in the third period when he caught a 30-yard pass from Berry for a touchdown.

The extra-point failed.

Paul Buxton carried the ball over from three yards out to give the Blue Devils a 32-7 lead.

A final touchdown in the fourth period gave the Blue Devils a 39-7 victory.

"I'm very pleased with the effort of the offense over the last two games," said Turner. "I think they ran well."

He added that it felt good to win a couple games after the team's horrendous start.

"It makes you feel good," said Turner. "I've been able to sleep for two weeks. I can relax a little. It's the second win a row that I can enjoy."

Turner maintains that the team started winning in part because the members have adopted his disciplinary philosophy.

"As a team, everyone is maturing. Everyone is starting to believe in my philosophy. Those are things they are beginning to believe and I'm proud of them."

He also said the team started the season without an experienced quarterback and implied that as the season progressed, some of that experience would be gained.

This week, the Pahokee Homecoming game will see the Blue Devils pitted against the LaBelle Cowboys.

A victory will seal second place in the division for the Blue Devils.

"They're gonna be up for us. We're gonna also be up for it. We're both gonna be up for each other. We're just gonna go at one another and try to beat them. Pahokee's a physical team. They just love physical contact," said Turner.

The game starts at 8 p.m. at Lair Field.

11 yard line, closing the gap to 14-12.

That was all the closer the Crusaders would get as the Celtics went about shutting down the Crusader offense and building an insurmountable lead.

The Celtics added two more touchdowns in the third period, giving them a 32-12 lead with only a quarter to go.

One touchdown in the fourth period gave the Celtics the 42-12 victory.

Mirto Vigoa led the team with 12 carries and 38 yards.

Chamblee hit Barnwell with two passes for 40 yards total.

think. Neither team got hurt by the outcome."

The Gators, the reigning class A state champions, entered the game ranked at number five by the state sports writers. Frostproof was ranked at number three. Those rankings should change this week, but Walker doesn't claim to give much credence to the polls.

"I wish they'd drop us all the way out of the top 10," he said.

He said he also hasn't given much thought to a rematch later this year with Frostproof during the playoffs.

"Not right now," said Walker. "All I'm looking forward to is 8 p.m. Friday. The worst thing we can do is start looking forward to things other than the job ahead of us. Nothing is more important than Friday."

The game will be crucial to any Gator attempt to repeat as state champions this year.

The Gators will host the Moore Haven Terriers in a game that will decide the district title. The winner goes on to the playoffs in two weeks. The loser gets to stay home and prepare for basketball season.

The game, which will also be the school's homecoming, will start at 8 p.m. on Gator Field.

Both teams are 3-0 in the district, having defeated Benjamin, King's Academy and St. John Neumann.

Walker acknowledges that the Gators should be the favorites in the contest.

"We're both three and oh in the district, but we've shut every district opponent out," he said.

"We've got to keep them from coming up with the big play. This is the big game now. If we lose this one, the season is over."

Councilman Ronnie Graydon suggested the language in the current code that deals with parking campers and recreational vehicles on the streets be incorporated in the new code.

He said the new code should be changed "before we get too far along with it."

Stauder pointed out that the old code prohibits parking any campers or RVs in the street unless it's an emergency.

"Well, that would be better than nothing," said Graydon.
